GOVERNOR SUBMITS HIGHWAY MEASURE

"Administration" Plan Calls for Bond Issue of Eighty-two Millions, Appointive Commission and Board of Control Composed of All Elective State Officers. House Would Appoint Committee to Investigate.

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 27.—Rapid action came in the Mississippi Legislature today in the last-minute attempt of Governor Bilbo to get through at the extraordinary session a hard surface road program—with the net result that his program was blocked in the House at the outset.

The chief executive appeared before a joint assembly of the lawmakers and outlined what he believed was the "real solution" for passage of road legislation, and outlined in general terms the contents of "the first administration" road bill of the Legislature.

This calls for an $82,000,000 bond issue; reorganization of the state highway commission by appointment of three commissioners, one each from the supreme court districts to be confirmed by both the House and Senate, and the creation of a board of control consisting of all elective state officers, such board to first pass on all contracts let by the new highway commission.

Each county, "so far as practical," would get $1,000,000 for state road construction. There are 82 counties in Mississippi.

Before the chief executive could appear on the floor, however, House opponents to road legislation containing a bond issue had caught the administration floor leaders napping, thus paving the way for a quick rebuke to Governor Bilbo in his appeal for the $82,000,000 road bill.

Rep. Walter Sillers, Jr., of Bolivar, vice chairman of the rules committee, offered a resolution and obtained suspension of the rules calling for a legislative committee to investigate road legislation and report back at the 1930 session. Consideration of this resolution was under way when the chief executive arrived, and was resumed immediately after delivery of his message.

Discovering the administration forces had been out-maneuvered, Rep. Houston H. Evans, of Harrison, sought to have the Sillers resolution referred to the committee on roads, but after a long and bitter debate this motion lost by a vote of 57 to 59—the narrowest squeeze the House opposition has encountered this session.

The resolution, which finally carried by a vote of 64 to 58, provides that a committee of three from the House and two from the Senate, to be appointed by presiding officers, shall study the cost of construction of the various types of hard surfaced roads, the location of a "restricted mileage" of primary highways, cost of maintenance of such highways, including the desirability of maintaining by contract or state employes and the preparation of a suitable highway law, copies of which would be given to members of the Legislature 30 days before the next regular session.

The committee would also be instructed to recommend a "definite highway financing policy for the state, with the protection of the finances of the counties for their roads" taken care of.

Governor Bilbo read his message, which opened with a threat that unless the legislators "made good roads" the people would make a new Legislature. He interspersed his address by extemporaneous remarks, declaring that "it is no secret that I am unable to agree with a majority of the House and Senate on the subject of revenue bills."

The lawmakers had struggled with revenues for six months, he said, at the same time making appropriations of $26,000,000 for the biennium. "These appropriations have been made and it is your duty, no matter how long it takes to provide revenues," he said. Inasmuch as the legislators had worked away six months on the bills, surely no one could blame him for taking the full five days, he declared.

This was taken to mean that Governor Bilbo would hold the cigarette, amusement and real estate transfer taxes the full limit, before vetoing them.

"It is rumored that the Legislature will make no effort to pass over my veto the bills I disapprove," he continued. "Remember that it is your duty to provide funds for your own appropriations. You made the appropriations, I didn't. I shall veto the tobacco tax and the amusement tax and when I am convinced that the Legislature will look with favor on any revenue plan recommended by the governor, I shall make a few mild suggestions."

A member cried out, "Make them now."

"All right," quickly responded Bilbo. "Begin by immediately removing from the tax commission two of the commissioners who have prevented proper assessment of corporations." G. R. Hightower of Natchez and F. R. Birdsall of Yazoo City, Whitfield appointees, were in disagreement with Chairman Franklin, named by Governor Bilbo, over certain corporation assessments.

NEW PONTIAC ANNOUNCED FOR EARLY APPEARANCE

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 28.—A Pontiac Six, new in practically everything but name, shortly will appear on the market, it was announced here today by the Oakland Motor Car Company.

A bigger, smarter, more powerful and more luxurious Pontiac, bringing big car features within the price range of the small six, was promised by the Oakland company.

This announcement comes near the close of the most successful year in the company's history with an estimated total output for 1928 of close to 270,000 units, forty percent above 1927.

In preparation for 1929, extensive building projects under way here for some time past now are practically completed, and will give the Oakland-Pontiac plant a capacity next year in excess of 350,000 cars.

Production of parts for the new car is now under way at the company plant, said to be the most modern and best equipped in the industry. The new Pontiac Six will be built almost entirely in factories owned by the Oakland Motor Car Company and the Fisher body plant at Pontiac, because the opening of new production units will enable Oakland in 1929 to build parts formerly manufactured elsewhere.

Keen interest in the new Pontiac Six was evidenced in automotive circles here and at Detroit because the Pontiac, first introduced in 1926, has since consistently shattered all previous sales records for a new make of car.

While embodying big car features and performance, the new Pontiac Six will remain within the price range of the smaller six, according to the announcement issued today. National showings will be held around the first of the coming year.

Grenada Lady Sees Smith At Reception

Mrs. S. A. Morrison Talks with Governor Alfred E. Smith at Biloxi Reception. Tells Him of Splendid Vote Given Him in Grenada County—Governor's Personality Enthuses Her More than Ever.

Editor Sentinel:

Feeling that you would like to know something first handed of the wonderful standard bearer of the Democratic party in our late effort, I am writing to tell you I attended the reception at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel last week; I went; I saw; and was charmed. I am prouder than ever that ours was the banner county of Mississippi for democracy; that I did all I could for the principles underlying our constitution, and the man whom the people chose at the convention as our exponent of those principles.

'Twas on a glorious afternoon that thousands (can't say how many, but the entire grounds, front and back of the hotel were covered with people and automobiles; the beach for a mile was used as additional parking ground, I was told) came to do honor to the frankest, broadest, biggest man in the government—Alfred E. Smith. As he came down the broad stairway, smiling, gracious, splendid bearing a New York flag, the multitude made the welkin ring. Then utter silence reigned during Senator Harrison's presentation. Of course everyone has read his short, appreciative acknowledgment of the genuine hospitality which had been accorded him, and the faithful adherence of the four southern states to the principles which he advocated so fearlessly.

As he stood on the first step of the front stair the crowd surged. I told him how glad Mississippi was to have him, what Grenada county had done, and though we had not won, we did not consider we were vanquished! For which he thanked me warmly. He certainly is a delightful personage. Please tell the friends who were so faithful and earnest in their support of our candidate, his warm hand clasp and genial smile but portray the kindly heart and the honest man.

Cordially and sincerely,
MRS. S. A. MORRISON.

NEW MEMBER CHARGED

John T. Keeton Becomes Member Grenada Rotary Club.

John T. Keeton became a member of the Grenada Rotary Club at its meeting Tuesday, Nov. 27. He fills the classification, "dry goods —retailing". Following a most impressive charge delivered to him by Rotarian J. R. Countiss, in which he was told what Rotary stands for throughout the world, its advantages to the membership in every way and the requirements for membership in the club, Mr. Keeton made a most happy response in which he stated his pleasure at becoming a Rotarian and of his intention of trying to make the club a good member.

Mrs. Frank Hill gave much enjoyment to the club Tuesday by singing two beautiful selections, the first an Indian song, "Pale Moon", and the second a medley of old songs.

Rev. E. H. Cunningham, Methodist presiding elder, who was a guest at the luncheon, expressed his gratification at mixing and mingling with the Rotarians. Mr. Cunningham's remarks were necessarily brief, on account of the lack of time.

The members of the Grenada High School football team were guests at the luncheon, being invited by the club as a testimonial of the club's appreciation of the splendid record they have made on the football field this season. John Williams, captain of the team, after being introduced most flatteringly by Supt. John Rundle, introduced the other members of the team individually.

A number of bird hunters were named to furnish the game for a quail dinner next Tuesday.

O. F. LAWRENCE IMPROVING

Mr. O. F. Lawrence, who has been confined to his bed since Nov. 2, with influenzal bronchitis, is improving and is slowly regaining his strength. He had a mighty close call but began to rally the early part of last week and is now regarded as being well on the road to recovery. He is still confined to his bed but should be able to be out within a week or ten days.

O. L. KIMBROUGH, SR., DIES MONDAY MORNING, NOV. 26th

Mr. O. L. Kimbro[illegible] Sr., passed away in the ea[illegible] hours of Monday morning, N[illegible] 26th, at the home of his daugh[illegible] Mrs. Dave W. Dogan, in Gre[illegible] after an illness which had c[illegible] him to his bed for two w[illegible] or more. Typhoid fever, with complication of pneumonia, develop[illegible] ed on Saturday be[illegible] the end came Monday, was[illegible] cause of his death.

Funeral services conducted from the First [illegible]t Church at 10 o'clock Tuesd[illegible]rning by the pastor, Rev. W[illegible] Farr, assisted by Rev. J. H. [illegible]er, pastor of the Methodist Church, and by Rev. R. L. McLeod, Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Interment was had in Odd Fellows Cemetery beside the remains of his wife who passed to the beyond three years ago.

Mr. Kimbrough was born March 13, 1860, in Carroll county, near Carrollton, but moved to Grenada when a mere boy and had made his home here since that time. He had long been identified with the life of the community in many ways, more especially in a religious and spiritual way. As a boy he united with the Baptist church and during his lifetime he was a most faithful attendant at all of its services and was one of the most outstanding members of that congregation. More than 40 years ago he was ordained as a deacon and had discharged loyally every obligation imposed upon him by the church. He was never known to fail to perform any duty in his church when called upon. He was for a long time moderator of the Grenada County Baptist Association and for many years he was the teacher of the men's Bible class of the Baptist Church. Truly will he be missed by that institution of God.

For many years Mr. Kimbrough was one of Grenada's most prominent business factors and he was actively identified with the business life of the community until a few years ago when ill health compelled him to retire from any employment that necessitated constant confinement.

He was a man of positive convictions and never hesitated to speak out at any time or on any occasion. He never failed to let it be known just where he stood on any question that concerned the public welfare, especially on matters involving morals. His opinion was respected by others, even though at times they did not agree with his views.

In the home Mr. Kimbrough was the loving and affectionate husband and during the forty years of his wedded life, he was ever thoughtful, ever considerate and ever attentive to the wife who became his on Sept. 10, 1885 and whose earthly career was ended on Oct. 25, 1925. As a father, he was kind and indulgent and thoroughly devoted to his children in every way.

His grief-stricken children, all of whom have reached maturity, may console themselves in the knowledge that he has joined their mother on that other shore and that the two are now looking forward to the time when they can share with their sons and daughters the joys of their mansion in the home beyond the skies.

Those who survive are Mrs. Dave W. Dogan, Grenada, Miss., Mrs. H. G. Talbert, McMinnville, Tenn., Mrs. W. E. Boushe, Tie Plant, Miss., Mrs. H. J. Thiel, Greensboro, N. C., Mrs. R. T. Hamilton, Batesville, Miss., and Mrs. G. D. Harrison, Little Rock, Ark., daughters, and two sons, Orman L. Kimbrough, Jr., and J. S. Kimbrough, both of Grenada, besides numerous other relatives.

To the bereft, The Sentinel extends its deepest and sincerest condolence.

Preacher In China Commends Sentinel

Says Community Should Be Proud of Paper Such as Sentinel—Discusses Newspapers and Claims Credit for Growth of Newspaper Advertising in China.

Editor Sentinel:

Your excellent paper received and read with interest. You do well to take pride in it. You have a big work. An editor is not only the servant of the people but can be a good servant. By pains and effort he can serve up to the community not only news local, but of all the world and so keep his readers posted in everything worth while, be it science, invention, literature, politics or religion. Would that every editor desired to make his influence felt around the world—for good. The locality without a live, helpful newspaper is indeed unfortunate. The community that has one such as your own has reason to be thankful and to support it with subscriptions and with telling, true advertisements.

When I came here there were a number of English papers published in China's coast towns; but there were only two or three Chinese newspapers and they were small indeed both in size and circulation and had no advertisements. About twenty-six years ago I began to publish my Chinese Christian Almanac. I needed advertisements badly to make it pay its way as does every publication worth while that must be sold cheaply. I went to Shanghai importers to get them to advertise in Chinese in my Almanac. They looked at me as though I had gone daft. Advertise in Chinese! Silly! They did not think it would do any good chiefly because they could not read the ad in Chinese characters. So I had to carry on a continued argumentative campaign of education. They advertised in English papers. But few Chinese could read English. They could read the "chicken-tracks". I urged that there was much more advantage in advertising for the Chinese. There were not 40 thousand foreigners in China. There were 400 million Chinese. They were here for the Cinese and but for the Chinese trade they would not be here. At first they gave me ads for good-fellowship's sake. Sometimes they gave them to get rid of me! But to their surprise letters began to come in from the interior asking for goods advertised in "Zeh Yong Ts Ming"—my Almanac. The ice was broken. Ads came in more freely. The few Chinese newspapers seeing the ads in my Almanac began to get wise and solicited ads and reaped fruit from my sowing. Those papers began to prosper, growing in size and circulation. Not only did foreigners advertise, but the Chinese merchants took to advertising and found it paid well. Soon many other papers were started to reap the advertising harvest and other profits, until the papers in the Chinese language are numbered by hundreds. Some few have circulation of from 20 to 30 thousand while many run from a few hundred up. They all exist largely on advertising. I lay a little claim to be the father of Chinese advertising.

Newspapers have played a big part in the present Nationalist movement. They were simply forced to take sides and to write what the leaders wished them to say. Where and while Northerners were in power they had to talk "North" or die and some did die. When the Southerners came into power the papers had to talk "South". Newspapers have proved a power in China, as in every other newspaper country, and I feel a little pride in being a pioneer in this line here; but I am not proud of many of the things papers in China print. I would not, however, have China go back to pre-newspaper days when only one in a million knew anything about affairs five miles from his village or town; but I wish the editors would weigh their words more carefully and keep well-balanced level heads when writing so as to lead the people wisely. Newspapers in China are a power for evil as well as for good. A newspaper editor, as well as an official, a preacher or a missionary, should be sane. But editors must be heroes to be sane in China. Where the editor is sane the community is pretty sure to be sane—and possibly vice versa! With very best wishes,

Yours in Christ's glad service,
Rev. H. G. C. HALLOCK.

REV. R. W. EMERSON GETS CALL TO GULFPORT CHURCH

Rev. R. W. Emerson, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church here, has just received a call from the Gulfport church, St. Peter's by the Sea.

During the six years that Mr. Emerson has served the Grenada church, he and his most estimable family have endeared themselves to the whole community, and it would cause universal regret in Grenada should the rector decide to accept the call.

The church at Gulfport has a much larger membership than has All Saints and the minister would have a greater opportunity for service in the Master's cause should he remove to the coast city. He has not yet made his decision in the matter and, even if he accepts the call to the new field, it will be after the first of the year before he leaves Grenada.

The Sentinel feels sure that it but voices the wish of the community that Mr. Emerson will decline and that he will decide to remain in Grenada.

County Gives Agents 63 Votes Majority

Election for Retention of Extension Agents Favors Keeping Agents by Vote of 413 to 350—Less than 40% of Electors Cast Ballots—Majority Not So Great as in Election Held Four Years Ago.

By a vote of 413 to 350—or a majority of 63—Grenada county electors last Saturday made known that they wish to continue employing the county demonstrators and the county home economics agent for another year. The total vote cast was less than 40% of the qualified electorate.

The election was ordered by the supervisors of their own volition and not as the result of any petition being filed requesting such an election. Personally, a majority of the board is against retention of the agents but since the people voted four years ago to continue the work in the county, they felt that it was only right and proper that the question be again submitted to the voters before any definite action should be taken.

The majority for the extension work in the elecetion last Saturday was not nearly so great as it was in the election of 1924. In that election 101 more people voted than did last Saturday. A comparison of the results shows that 197 more people voted for the demonstrator in 1924 than did in 1928 and that 136 more voted for the economics agent then than did in the recent election. In the 1924 voting, the agents were voted on separately but last Saturday the two were voted on together. A further study of the figures shows that 96 more are opposed to the demonstrator now than there were then and that 73 more favored letting the home economics agent go.

The vote in Saturday's election shows that the town of Grenada cut no figure in the election and that the rural boxes carried the proposition. In Grenada proper the majority favoring the work was only 6; in district 1 the majority was 9; thus the question would have carried in beat 1 had the town of Grenada not voted at all.

In beat 2, the only beat that did not favor retention of the agents, the majority against was 37 votes, three of the four boxes in that beat going against the agents.

Beat 3 favored retention by a majority of 16, or 2 to 1. Beat 4 wants them by a majority of 21 while beat 5 gave the greatest majority of all, 54, or more than 2 to 1.

The question is one that has been cussed and discussed in the county for several years. Many have voiced their dissatisfaction with the extension work and have said that the town of Grenada was responsible for the agents being on the county payroll. Others have been equally as vociferous in acclaiming the good accomplished by the agents.

Grenada countians, all (or most) of whom are good Democrats, believe in the majority ruling and they should all turn their attention to other matters now that the question of extension is settled.

The official vote was as follows:

Precinct	For	Against
East Grenada	78	61
West Grenada	83	94

MINISTER DESCRIBES MORE OF HOLY LANDS

Rev. R. L. McLeod, Jr., Tells of Visits to Tiberias, Capernaum and Cana and of Voyage on Sea of Galilee—Mohammedans Heed "Call to Prayer"—Tells of Sacred Places Frequented by Savior While on Earth.

THE SEA OF GALILEE

(By R. L. McLeod, Jr.)

Last week you will remember we took a trip around the Sea of Galilee, looking upon many places of interest. We returned by boat to a wharf at Tiberias.

Today Tiberias is a little city of about ten thousand inhabitants. The old part of the city which was founded by Herod Antipas is a little to the south of the present city. Herod Antipas you will remember was the man who murdered John the Baptist and on the morning of the crucifixion mocked our Saviour and sent Him back to Pilate in borrowed and ragged purple. Herod named the city in honor of his imperial master, Tiberias Caesar, made it his capital and built on the mountain just back of the town his famous Golden Palace. Certain recent scholars are convinced that the imprisonment and death of John the Baptist took place at the Golden palace at Tiberias and several weighty considerations seem to favor this view. After the fall of Jerusalem in 70 A. D. Tiberias became the religious and intellectual center of Judaism. Here the Sanhedrin was finally brought. Here great schools in large numbers were established that existed for hundreds of years. Here the rabbi lived from whom Jerome learned his Hebrew as he was translating the scriptures into Latin in his cell at Bethlehem about 400 A. D.

After our sunset service described last week we climbd the narrow street back to our hotel, which was most appropriate for its location. Our only light was candle light, three candles in the room and a row of them down each table in the dining room. We had fish for supper taken from the Sea of Galilee. By ten o'clock that night everything was as quiet as though you were far in the country, and soon we were soundly sleeping.

Sunrise on Galilee.

The next morning just at sunrise I was awakened by a sound which seemed to be a woman in distress screaming. I heard it once and remained in bed, but at the sound again I jumped out of bed and rushed to the window to see what it could be. My window faced the east with a view across the sea, and as I looked out I was so fascinated with the scene that greeted my eyes, that I forgot the sound that brought me there. The great golden ball, the sun, had not yet come into view across the hills beyond the sea, but was throwing its rays of colored light into the sky above. As these rays fell upon floating clouds they appeared as floating silk of red, pink, yellow and a light green. All this could be seen reflected in the still quiet water of the sea, which looked as a mirror lying flat in the hollow. Around the edge of the sea were thousands and even millions of small shells which had been washed ashore during the night, giving the sea a border of lace. The low azure hills nearest the sea could just be seen through the mist that surrounded them, while the ascent of mountains surrounding grew from a dark grey to a light grey. Looking up the gorge which pours water into the sea, could be seen

FORMER POSTMASTER HERE

Jas. H. Spence, former postmaster at Grenada, arrived last week to spend several days here looking after business matters. Mr. Spence, who had to go to New Mexico eighteen months ago in the hope of being cured of tuberculosis, is looking well and hearty and his doctors assure him that he will eventually entirely recover. For several months, Mr. Spence's life was despaired of but careful attention to the rigid routine of a tubercular patient's life has worked wonders for him and his friends here are glad to know that he is now recuperating.

Mr. Spence, a lifelong Republican, took an active interest in the recent presidential campaign in New Mexico in the interests of Herbert Hoover. He told a Sentinel representative, in discussing the campaign, that he had charge of all money raised in that state for the Republican fund and that he was in constant touch with Republican leaders of national prominence.

Mr. Spence left an order for The Sentinel to come to him and his wife at their home in Albuquerque.

LIKE NEW MAN NOW, STATES CAMPBELL

Says He's Ashamed of Big Appetite He has Since Taking Sargon.

"I have always been a very strong healthy man until three years ago. Then, the food I ate began to sour and ferment. This condition gradually kept getting worse until at times my stomach felt like I had swallowed red hot coals. I don't know of any better way to describe it. My entire system became rundown.

"Later, my kidneys became affected and I began to suffer with lumbago, and the pains in my back were so intense at times I could hardly turn over in my bed. When I would get out of bed it would take several minutes to straighten up my back so I could walk. My rest was broken all through the night on account of the condition of my kidneys.

"I was troubled a great deal with shortness of breath, and when I tried to walk a little fast, or to climb a flight of stairs, or go up hill, I would become completely exhausted and have to stop and rest several minutes. I also often had dizzy spells which would get so bad I could not stand up, and would have to stop and sit down for half an hour.

I could feel a big difference in my condition on the second day after I started taking Sargon. I have now taken two bottles and am like a new man in every way.

"I have an appetite now that I am actually ashamed of. My digestion is as sound as anybody's. I have plenty of 'pep' and ambition now and have been wonderfully strengthened. My kidneys seem to be in perfect order, and I sleep sound all night. I am not nervous and the dizzy spells have been overcome. I am not constipated in the least."

The above statement was made a few days ago by Robert S. Campbell, popular salesman, employed by Goodman Broom Mfg. Co. Mr. Campbell's address is P. O. Box 573, Memphis, Tenn.

Sargon may be obtained in Grenada from the Corner Drug Store.

NERVES
Went to Pieces

"I suffered a long time, before I tried Cardui," says Mrs. Lillie Pruitt, 130 "K" St., Anderson, S. C.

"I was badly run-down in health. My nerves 'went to pieces', and I had to go to bed.

"I got so bad off, I could not bear to have anybody walk across the floor of my room. The least little thing upset me. Sometimes I became hysterical. I had bad pains in my back and sides, and my head and limbs would take spells of aching, which almost set me wild.

"One day I saw where a woman, who had a trouble like my own, had been relieved by Cardui. I decided at once to try it. It began to help me from the very first. I took Cardui regularly, for several months, and my improvement was so remarkable my family and friends were delighted."

Try Cardui for your troubles. At all drug stores.

PAUL BEFORE HIS JUDGES

LESSON TEXT—Acts 24:1-26:32.
GOLDEN TEXT—I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul on Trial.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul on Trial.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul on the Witness Stand.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul Defends His Life Work.

I. Paul Before Felix (24).

1. The accusation against him (vv. 1-9).

This was made by Tertullus, perhaps a Roman lawyer employed by the Jews.

(1) A pestilent fellow (v. 5). This would indicate a fellow utterly base and corrupt—a plague.

(2) An inciter of rebellion, a lover of sedition (v. 5). This they hoped would bring him into conflict with the Roman power.

(3) That he was ringleader of a sect (v. 5). This was designed to throw contempt and suspicion upon the Christians.

(4) That he had profaned the temple (v. 6).

2. Paul's defense (vv. 10-21).

(1) His frankness and courtesy (v. 10). He gave recognition to the fact that Felix had been ruler long enough to be able to judge justly, as the habits and ways of the Jews were familiar to him.

(2) The charges made (vv. 11-20).

a. The charge of sedition denied (vv. 11, 12). The falsity of this he showed by the fact that the time was too short. Besides, his conduct showed the contrary.

b. The charge of heresy (vv. 14-16). This he made by a confession and a denial. He admitted that he was of this "way," which they called heresy, but denied that Christians were schismatic. He showed that his actions were clearly in keeping with the Hebrew religion, that he worshiped the same God (v. 14), fully believed in the same Scriptures (v. 14), and had the same hope of the resurrection of the dead.

c. The charge of sacrilege (vv. 17-21). This he refuted by saying that he had come all the way from Greece to worship at the feast (v. 17), and that he had brought alms for his nation.

3. Felix trembles before Paul (vv. 22-27).

Wicked as Felix was, Paul's manner won his favor, though he did not release him. His sentence was "indulgent imprisonment," which kept him free from his enemies while under Roman protection. When brought before Felix, Paul reasoned righteousness, self-control and judgment to come. This he did with such power that Felix was terrified.

II. Paul Before Festus (25:1-12).

More than two years had elapsed since the trial before Felix, but Jewish hatred did not abate. As soon as Festus, the new governor, went to Jerusalem, he was besieged with accusations against Paul. His accusers desired that he be brought to Jerusalem for trial, intending to lie in wait and kill him on the way. Festus refused their request but agreed to give them an opportunity to go down to Caesarea to accuse him. They were unable to prove anything against him. Festus, willing to please the Jews, proposed to send him to Jerusalem for trial. Seeing that it was impossible to get justice before Festus, Paul made use of his right as a Roman citizen and appealed to Caesar.

III. Paul Before Agrippa (Acts 25:13-26:27).

1. The occasion (25:13-27).

This was the visit of Agrippa and Bernice to Festus. Upon their arrival they expressed a desire to hear Paul.

2. Paul's defense before Agrippa (26:1-27).

He introduced his defense (vv. 1-8) by expressing his delight in now telling his case to one who could follow his line of argument, for Agrippa was an expert in questions concerning the Jews.

He then indicated his manner of life (vv. 4-12) by showing that he had lived in the strictest accord with the most rigid sect of the Jews. He then indicated his supernatural conversion (vv. 13-15). After his conversion he was commissioned by Christ (vv. 16-18). As soon as he had received his commission he rendered obedience (vv. 19-23). Seeing how thoroughly in earnest Paul was Festus interrupted him and attempted to account for his enthusiasm by attributing it to the ravings of an unbalanced mind. Despite this, he made his appeal to Agrippa (vv. 25-27). He courageously appealed to Agrippa's knowledge of the work of Jesus and of the prophets. So definitely was Agrippa impressed by Paul's appeal that he declared he was almost persuaded to be a Christian.

WHAT WE THINK
By FRANK DIXON

The reason many a wife thinks her husband has forgotten how to kiss is because she never gets a chance to see him when he is alone with his pretty stenographer.

You are right brother—I should never have brought that up.

The world's champion optimist is no doubt the fellow who steals a second hand motor car.

I note where someone found there are something like 51,000 millionaires in the United States. I know what is the matter with the country now.

The disheartening thing about the average diet regime is it does so much for the will power and so little for the waste line.

As far as most of us are concerned we wouldn't give a hang for "some gift the power to give us to see ourselves as others see us" if we could have one that would enable us to make others see us as we see ourselves.

Interesting information: Miss Fifteen conducts a millinery establishment in Salt Lake City. It would be interesting to know the significance of Miss Fifteen's name. Is it, do you suppose, an echo of the days when women in Utah were known as Mrs. Ten, Mrs. Eleven and so on—if they ever were?

The soviet government of Russia is reported to have enacted regulations prohibiting bobbed hair. If the Soviets can put over this law successfully they will be entitled to recognition as a world's power.

For the accommodation of patrons, the postmaster of Pittsburg has installed a box on the curbing so motorists can mail letters without the necessity of getting out of their cars. That, as the motorist sees it, however, is scant accommodation. What they want is to be able to honk and have the postmaster run out and get their letter.

Television will have reached such a stage of development by 1978 says Sir Philip Gibbs, British journalist and novelist, that there will be no newspapers outside of the museums, and reading will be a hobby practiced only by old fashioned folk and great students. Which may account for the feverish activity with which Sir Philip is taking advantage of the present literary market.

We don't believe that political parties do half as much for us as they claim. They point with pride to the fact that everybody has an automobile and a lot of conveniences, but in a majority of cases the political party doesn't deserve credit for it. Of course a party does give these things to some of the politicians and their relatives, but at least a majority of us must get such things for ourselves. It would be all right for a political party to claim that it has put luxuries in the homes of thousands of tax eaters, but we don't mind telling both parties that we don't give them one particle of credit for furnishing our home. We did it ourself on the installment plan, says Claud Callan.

The Outstanding Chevrolet
of Chevrolet History
– a Six in the price range of the four!

The Chevrolet Motor Company announces The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History . . . a Six in the price range of the four!

Spectacular as Chevrolet's achievements have been in the past . . . notable as its engineering triumphs have proved themselves to be—this remarkable new car dwarfs every previous Chevrolet accomplishment. Not only does it introduce into the low-priced field an entirely new measure of performance, comfort, beauty and style—but it is sold at prices so low as to alter every previous conception of motor car value.

The new six-cylinder valve-in-head engine—developed from more than a hundred motors designed especially for this sensational car—stands out as an engineering masterpiece. With a power increase of approximately 32% over the previous Chevrolet motor . . . with sensationally greater speed and faster acceleration—it offers a type of performance that is literally astounding—even to those who have been accustomed to driving cars costing hundreds of dollars more. And it affords an economy averaging better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

In appearance, this Outstanding Chevrolet is destined to become an automotive sensation—so smart, so stylish and so distinctively appointed that it rivals the costliest custom creations. The marvelous new Fisher bodies are longer, lower and roomier with an adjustable driver's seat in all closed models—and reveal the matchless artistry of Fisher designers. With their modish new colors, their smart dual mouldings and their distinctive concave pillars, they achieve a degree of original beauty that has seldom been equalled in motor car design.

You are cordially invited to visit our showroom and secure complete and detailed information on this sensational new car which will be ready for delivery beginning January 1st.

Mr. Eugene T. Williams and Miss Birdie May Campbell were married at Redfield, Arkansas, November 16, 1903. The groom is a son of Mr. R. H. Williams, and was reared in Grenada. He is a bright, pleasant and honorable young gentleman and is telegraph operator and agent at Redfield. The bride is spoken of as a beautiful and charming lady. The Sentinel extends its best wishes to the happy couple.

Dr. W. H. Stokes, his elegant wife and two lovely children, of Mayfield, Ky., are visiting the family of Mr. O. L. Kimbrough. Dr. Stokes was reared in Grenada, and is an affable and sterling young gentleman. Long may he and his family prosper and be happy.

Mrs. Hallie Weir is visiting relatives and friends in St. Louis and East St. Louis this week. She goes to be present at a family reunion held on Thanksgiving.

The Wark and Wade Minstrel show last night at the Lambert Opera House was the best up-to-date minstrel that has ever been in the city. Their band and orchestra was one feature that is very hard to beat in a traveling minstrel, and all other features were first-class. Clean and neat was the appearance of the entire company. Then back to Guthrie for the second time this week.—(Blackwell News, Oct. 10th.) This attraction will be at opera house Friday night November 27.

PAUL GOES TO ROME

LESSON TEXT—Rom. 1:8-15; Acts 27:1-28:31.

GOLDEN TEXT—I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul and a Storm at Sea.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's Voyage to Rome.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul Makes the Most of Circumstances.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Divine Leadership in Paul's Life.

I. Paul's Longing to See the Romans (1:8-15).

Rome was the center of the world's power and influence. Paul longed to visit that metropolis with the gospel so that it might find its way from that center to all parts of the world. He had a twofold object so far as the Roman church was concerned.

1. That he might impart unto them some spiritual gift to the end that they might be established.

2. That he might be comforted by their fellowship. There is a reciprocal relationship between the minister and the people unto whom he ministers.

II. Paul's Voyage to Rome (Acts 27).

1. The ship (vv. 1-6).

It was a vessel of Alexandria sailing from Myra to Italy.

2. The company (vv. 1, 2).

Two of Paul's friends, Aristarchus and Luke, were permitted to go with him. Besides these three, there were two hundred and seventy-three in the ship (v. 37).

3. Overtaken by a storm (vv. 7-20).

Paul had advised that they winter in Fair Havens (vv. 9-12), but his advice was unheeded. The gentle south wind deceived them so they loosed from Crete, only to be overtaken by the tempestuous wind called Euroclydon. They did everything possible to save the ship.

4. Paul's serene faith (vv. 21-26).

(1) His rebuke for failure to heed his advice (v. 21).

(2) Bids them to be of good cheer (v. 22).

(3) He promises them safety (v. 22). He assures them that though the ship go to pieces, every man's life would be saved.

(4) The source of his information (vv. 23, 24). It was revealed unto him by the angel of God.

(5) The reason for Paul's faith (v. 23).

"Whose I am and whom I serve." The consciousness of having been chosen by God and being engaged in His service enables one in the midst of the most violent storm to rest in God.

5. The ship's crew all safe on land (27:27-28:10).

This was exactly as the Lord had said.

(1) The hospitable reception by the natives (28:2).

They built a fire and made the shipwrecked people as comfortable as possible in the cold and rain.

(2) Paul gathered sticks for the fire (v. 3).

(3) Paul bitten by a poisonous serpent (v. 3). Among the sticks gathered there was a serpent. Perhaps it had already coiled itself up for its winter's sleep, when warmed by the fire it darted at Paul and fixed its fangs upon his hand. The natives expected to see him fall down dead, yet he shook it off, nothing harmed. At first the natives thought that he was an escaped murderer and that retributive justice was being meted out to him. When they saw he was unharmed they concluded he was a god.

(4) Paul heals Publius' father (vv. 7-10). Paul now reciprocated the kindness of these people.

III. Paul's Arrival at Rome (28:11-16).

Brethren from Rome came some forty miles to meet him. This greatly encouraged him, for which he gave thanks to God. His desire to preach the gospel of Rome was now realized. He was treated with great leniency, being allowed to hire a house and live apart, except that he was constantly under the guard of a soldier. Being chained to a soldier was irksome, but it gave him a chance to preach to the soldier, which he could not have done in any other way.

IV. Paul's Ministry in Rome (vv. 17-31).

1. His conference with the leading Jews (vv. 17-22).

He did not, as usual, wait for the Sabbath day to speak to the Jews, but after three days' rest he called the chief Jews together because of a desire to have a fair understanding with them. The result of this interview was that the Jews took neutral ground.

2. Paul expounding the Kingdom of God and persuading concerning Jesus (vv. 23-31).

He pointed out a real kingdom, the Messianic Kingdom with the historic Jesus as King. To Paul the Kingdom meant a definite reign of a definite person, not simply an improved state of society. This he showed from the Scriptures. He went through the Old Testament carefully, showing this to be in harmony with the teaching of the law and the prophets.

THIS LITTLE DOLLAR STAYED HOME

A curious and practical citizen of a country town some time ago, attached a slip of paper to a dollar bill bearing the following request: "Will everyone receiving this dollar make a notation of its use on the blank space below?" Then he spent the dollar with a grocer.

In just ten days the dollar found its way back to the sender, and it bore notations showing that it had been spent five times for theaters, five for cigarettes, three for salaries, three for ice cream, twice for men's furnishings, twice for hair cuts, once for auto repairing, once for bacon, once for a compact and once for face powder.

The dollar had been spent twenty-five times in the community in ten days. It started out new and crisp and came back soiled and wrinkled.

If the first party had spent the dollar out of town, its service in that community would have been ended. It would have gone to work somewhere else.

It is the dollar that stays at home that builds the home community—that pays the taxes, supports the schools and employs home labor.

THE ELECTION LAST SATURDAY

The election last Saturday proves a number of things most conclusively. The votes of 413 Grenada county people indicate to the board of supervisors that it is to retain for another year the extension agents. These 413 people, while we do not believe that they are the only ones who favor retention of the agents, possibly might be by themselves in wishing the work continued. They represent a little over 20% of the total qualified electorate, showing how it might be possible for a minority, by uniting and working together, to say what the entire body politic shall do. More than 1200 voters in Grenada county did not register their wishes one way or the other, signifying their absolute indifference to public matters. Among these 1200 we feel safe in asserting that the chronic kickers against the actions of public officials may be found. They rarely avail themselves of the opportunity of going to the polls but they are loud in their protests against inefficiency, extravagance, etc., etc. They should have spoken last Saturday and since they did not they should now hold their peace.

The election was ordered by the supervisors and if there were any politicians on the board, The Sentinel might be tempted to say that the election was a shrewd piece of political strategy. If the election had carried in the total vote cast but had lost in three supervisor's districts, the members of the board from these districts might have safely voted either way when the question came up before them officially. They would have had a plausible reason for voting for retention of the agents for the whole county wanted them; on the other hand, they could have safely and without cause for just criticism voted against the work since their constituents showed they did not want them. But since The Sentinel knows that there are no political strategists on the board, it shall not make this charge.

Another thing, if any of those members of the board who were opposed to the agents worked in the effort to carry the election against them, they might have won more votes to their side if they had given assurances to the taxpayers that the one mill levy necessary for retention of the extension work would have been cut off when the next levy is made.

Let it be hoped now that we'll have no more bickering and discussion about the matter, at least for a while, and that we'll turn our attention to other things equally or more important.

GOVERNOR SUBMITS ROAD BILL

Governor Theo. G. Bilbo Tuesday morning submitted to a joint session of the senate and house of representatives of the Mississippi legislature an "administration" highway measure. Gov. Bilbo's plan calls for a bond issue of $82,000,000 and a highway commission of three members appointed by the governor subject to ratification by both branches of the legislative body and provides that all contracts entered into by the highway commission shall be passed on by all elective state officers.

The governor has waited until late in the day to put his proposition up to the lawmakers. With the date of adjournment of the legislative session definitely set for Saturday, Dec. 1, neither body will have time to consider the bill in detail and there seems to be absolutely no chance of its being considered at all at the present session.

Since there will hardly be a road law enacted now, the resolution to appoint a legislative committee to study all phases of road construction and report back at the 1930 session seems to us to be the best solution of the problem. Mississippi wants a highway system and it is better late than never. Two years' delay is a long time but perhaps that is the only way we shall ever get any definite action.

Goiter is said to be becoming more prevalent among young women. Perhaps another argument against necking parties.

A loaf of bread 60 feet long was baked in Minneapolis. In such a case half a loaf would be 30 feet better than none.

Praising the town ladies for having the cemetery cleaned up, an exchange declares that "the grave-yard looks most inviting".

Some of our friends are such good fellows that we can almost forgive them for having such fool notions about religion and politics.

Lady Astor says Americans do not understand Europeans. She might have added that Americans do not understand one another, either.

WHAT THANKS GIVE WE?

The President of the United States, the governors of the states, and the mayors of many cities and towns have issued proclamations, calling upon the people of this nation, to gather together on Thanksgiving day to return grateful thanks to the Almighty Father for the blessings that have been poured upon this nation.

The individual citizen, if unmoved by sincere gratitude, is appealed to by his own church to make this national day an occasion upon which to attest an appreciation for the merciful favors which have been showered upon each one of us, personally. Surely, such an occasion should bring us a reverent attitude towards God.

Grenada has reason to return thanks in great measure. Our citizens almost without exception, have enjoyed what seems to be a powerful Divine protection. Without argument, without cavil, all of us should be truly impressed with the happy conditions under which we live. Are these the product of our own greatness, alone? Are they the reward of our goodness alone? Do we, as individuals, rank such an unmeasured preference as seems to have fitted over and guarded life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness in the United States?

Contrasting our own lives with the lives of other people we find no assurance that we are better than any other peoples who live on the globe, and strive to distinguish the right from the wrong. Contrasting our good works, if you please, with those of others, we find no overwhelming disparity between good men and women scattered through the earth. Surely there is no reason for us to presume that our blessings have been bought and paid for in any way. Certainly they must have come from some beneficent Giver of good things, who has opened up the treasures of mankind and the riches of the universe in many ways, and heaped them upon undeserving heads.

Let us have in Grenada a real spirit of thanksgiving, a spirit that can be expressed in individual hearts as positively as it can be demonstrated in public gatherings. Let the spirit that comes with reflections upon these thoughts dwell with us through the coming twelve months, and next year when another day of thanks is appointed, our debt to acknowledge and our obligation to repay will be greater and more overwhelming than ever.

THE DEAD HAND

"Government operation of business lacks imagination and originality. It never creates anything—except jobs. It is a dead hand on initiative."

So reads a paragraph by Merle Thorpe, quoted in the Publishers' Auxiliary. Local publishers and printers can also testify that the government in the envelope printing business for half a century has robbed them of millions of dollars worth of work which would have materially helped them to better serve their communities.

This sort of competition on the part of the government is utterly indefensible, particularly for the reason that by doing this work at less than cost the deficit must be made up by the taxpayers, including the printers whose business is injured by this practice.

An editor gets many an idea from folks who suggest how to run the paper. Most frequently it is the idea that he'd like to shoot the suggester.

Johnson Wright of Missouri bequeathed 120 acres of land to the Almighty, who was designated in the deed as the "party of the second part."

LOST Time from Work

Mr. Albert Garland, of Somerset, Ky., recently said: "I used to work in the mines, but lost quite a bit of time on account of sick spells I had. I would get to having a bad taste in my mouth, and a very dull, tired feeling and ache.

"My mother told me to try Black-Draught, which I did, and after a few doses I felt much better. Now I take it as soon as I feel the least bad, and I don't get down. I certainly can say that it has done more for me than any other medicine I have ever taken.

"I never get without Black-Draught. If I go on a visit, I take a package along in my suitcase. My health is better now than it has been in years."

Black-Draught is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, of highest quality.

Gives Two Parties.

Mrs. Homer J. Williams was a most engaging hostess on last Thursday and Friday afternoons when she entertained at two lovely bridge parties in her home on Snider Street. Beautiful large yellow chrysanthemums added much to the attractiveness of the already pretty home. Most satisfying refreshments were served on each occasion and the two affairs were among the most enjoyable of the season.

Thursday afternoon, high score prize, a vase, was won by Mrs. Pierce, while low score was made by Miss Elizabeth Jones who was awarded a vase also. Consolation prize, bridge table markers, was cut by Mrs. Frank Mohead.

The winners Friday were Mrs. Herman Heath who was given a powder box for high score and low prize, a picture, went to Mrs. Brannus Huggins. Consolation, salt and pepper shakers, was cut by Mrs. Eloise Wilkins. Mrs. John Draughon, of Nashville, Tenn., was given a dainty guest prize.

COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

By LAFAYETTE ATKINSON
Superintendent of Education

ENRICHING THE "THREE R'S"

Time was when the education of youth centered around the "three R's." Not only did the teaching revolve around this trio but it confined itself solely to it. That day is past. We have discovered there are some things as vitally necessary to education, the development of character and physique, a stimulation for truth, the promotion of clear thinking and clean living.

Today reading, writing and arithmetic are basic as ever. But it is a more rounded training that develops reasoning and fosters individuality. We have outgrown primitive educational methods.

Likewise our attitude toward living has changed. We build better homes; we have reduced our working hours and increased our social activities. Our play grounds have supplanted the alleys for our boys and our parks afford the picnic grounds for our citizens. School buildings have become the community center for play and social recreation and the headquarters for adult education and training.

We have come from an existing to an evolving life. We are striving to make education a means to wisdom. Today the schoolhouse is the measuring rod of progress. Often it is the architectural pride of the community. It is equipped beyond the dreams of a generation ago. Classrooms and subject matter no longer repel pupils. Compulsory attendance laws do not account for the yearly pyramiding of school attendance. The teacher personality, combined with fresh air, sunshine and good cheer are impelling. Physical development is encouraged, the practical in education is stressed and the cultural side of life emphasized. Music, art and drama have become an important part of the curriculum. Foundations are laid for better and more abundant life and a finer spirit of human relations.

These influences reached beyond the pupil into the home. More and more are we bringing the school into relationship with the family. The Parent-Teacher Associations have proved the connecting link. They are an evidence of the growth of a common interest in educational work.

Our schools are the mirrors of our national progress. It is one of the blessings of our democracy that we keep these schools pliant, responsive to the country's growth. We are of those who feel that the "three R's" have not suffered by the change but that a great stride has been taken beyond them. We have added to these the "three C's", character, culture and citizenship.

The enriching of the the "Three R's" is a story not only of educational progress but likewise community betterment. — Better Schools League.

The enrollment in the rural and consolidated schools continues to increase as each month's report comes into the office of the county

Advertising Brings New Customers

Into your store. New customers increase the volume of business and increased volume brings increased profits. The following story is told of the Fort Smith Garment Co., by its vice president, Leo Fleming:

"We manufacture overalls and work pants. It took us 12 years to build a business from a scratch to a certain volume without advertising. With advertising the volume increased 500 per cent in two years. In our first twelve years we built our production up to 1000 dozens a month and our overhead and selling cost was $4000 a month.

"That made a selling cost of four dollars a dozen. Two years after becoming advertisers our volume increased to 5000 dozens a month. The overhead and selling cost increased 100 per cent to $8000 a month. As a result the overhead and selling cost was reduced from four dollars a dozen to one dollar and sixty cents a dozen. We reduced the price a dollar a dozen to the retailer, paid 50c a dozen to the advertising appropriation and had 90c a dozen extra profit as a result of the advertising."

Girl Scouts Banquet Parents.

On last Friday night a banquet was given at the Masonic Temple by the members of troops 1 and 2 of the Girl Scouts of Grenada in honor of their fathers and mothers. This entertainment was the culmination of National Girl Scout week which was observed by the Grenada scouts under the supervision of the local captains and committee, Mrs. Lafayette Atkinson being captain of troop 1 and Miss Faye Gunn captain of troop 2.

The temple was most beautifully decorated in autumn leaves and chrysanthemums, variegated fall colors under the direction of Mrs. Cowles Horton and Mrs. Donald Ross.

Miss Gunn gave the address of welcome to the 150 guests assembled, which included the parents, girl scouts, ministers, committee members and other local visitors and several out of town guests.

This was responded to by Mrs. Claud Gibson in behalf of the parents. Mrs. Atkinson acted as toastmistress.

After a most tempting two-course supper was served, splendid talks were made by both Mr. and Mrs. John Rundle, Mrs. Rundle's theme being, "What scout work means to the girls and the community" and she urged a continuance of the support of the parents. Rev. R. W. Emerson favored the guests with two splendid vocal numbers.

Mrs. Atkinson then introduced Miss Nannie Lou Hamilton, the organizer of the first troop of girl scouts in Grenada, who in turn introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Catherine Lily, of Memphis, camp chief at girl scout camp Kiwani and director of the girl scouts of Memphis. Mrs. Lily gave a general discourse on scouting, and how it benefits girls and helps them throughout life. Six of the Memphis girl scouts accompanied Mrs. Lily and favored the crowd with several scout songs, being joined by the local scouts in several of them.

Miss Lorraine Lyon played the piano during the serving of the banquet, which added much to the evening's entertainment.

At the close of the program everyone stood while "taps" was sung by the scouts.

Birthday Party for Son.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Frank Gerard entertained most delightfully in honor of her son, Frank, Jr., with a lovely birthday party.

Lovely autumn flowers decorated the rooms where the guests were assembled to enjoy several games of rook, after which they were ushered into the dining room, where a most beautifully decorated birthday cake with twelve pink candles burning brightly graced the center of the table. Pink candles and bowls of fruit further decorated the table. Delicious ice cream, in pink and white, was served with the cake to the following young girls and boys: Misses Lucy Webb Sharp, Mary Phelan Brown, Rachel Todd, Constance Thompson, Mary Alice Kettle, Emily Louise Kettle, Eloise Wilkins, Elizabeth Wilkins, Gloria Williams and Martha Vance Smith and Henry Ray, Jr., Cowles Horton, Jr., Quinn Nelson, Dick Bradley, Sam C. Mims, Jr., Joe Stevens, Ben Adams, Jr., Frank Collins Horton, Overton Pearson, Jr., and Frank Gerard, Jr., Mrs. Gerard was assisted in entertaining by Gus Gerard, II.

Lovely gifts from his guests, added much to the joy of the occasion for Frank, Jr.

"Show-Off" Presented by Guild.

"The Show Off" an American comedy in three parts was presented last Thursday night at the Grenada College auditorium by the Player's Guild, under the direction of Miss Ruth G. Bale, expression teacher, to a most appreciative audience.

The cast of "The Show Off" included several of the favorite players in last year's plays given by the Guild, Miss Faye Gunn, president of the Guild, played the leading role of Aubry Piper, "The Show Off", most creditably, Miss Evelyn Barrow, as "Mrs. Fisher", was exceptionally good, as were "Clara", "Amy", and "Jo", her children, with Misses Byrdie Jones, Elizabeth Capps, and Mary Miller Murry, respectively, playing those parts. The other characters were true to their type and all were adapted admirably to their various roles. The ushers were Misses Elizabeth Holder, Thelma Jackson, Mildred Townsend, Josephine Carr, Sarah Cunningham and Corrie Mae Smith.

A dentist whose office was on the twelfth floor of a sky-scraper, was expecting a patient from the country. The door opened, and the patient entered puffing, violently. "Some walk up those twelve flights," he gasped.

"Why didn't you ride the elevator?" asked the dentist.

"I meant to," was the reply, "but I missed the blamed thing."

Tourist: "I've come here for the winter."

Californian; "Well, you've come to the wrong place. There's no winter here."—Life.

HE OUGHT TO GET A PATENT ON THIS

An accident in which a man's false teeth cut out his tonsils occurred on Whidby Island last Thursday, when a cable which was stretched across the road to the ferry struck the driver of a milk truck across the mouth, forcing his upper plate into his throat. The cable knocked the man off the seat, took the top off the truck and when the doctor arrived it was found that the man's false teeth had cut his tonsils out, a fine operation. — Anacortes (Wash.) American.

COLD INTERFERENCE

A policeman was walking his beat in a residential district when a house to house salesman rushed up to him, with his clothes torn and his face badly battered.

"Say, officer," he panted, pointing to a red-headed man who had just climbed on his wagon. "I want you to arrest that man. Just look what he did to me."

Stalking majestically into the street, the policeman waved the ice-wagon to a halt and demanded, "Did you hit this man?"

"Oi did," was the shameless reply.

"What for?"

"Alienation of affections," replied the ice man. "He sold Bridget Nolan's missus wan uv thim electric ice boxes."

TEN TO ONE

Wife: "I've put your shirt on the clothes-horse, Jim."

Jim: "What odds did you get?"

FIFTY-FIFTY

He: "Mabel says she thinks I'm a wit."

She: "Well, she's half right."

HARD TO SELL

"Oh, splendid!" exclaimed the wife. "You've finally got the baby to sleep.

"Yes," answered the young father, a salesman. "But I had an awful time selling him on the idea."

ALLEZ-OOP

"I hear she married an athlete."

"Yes, it says in the paper that he walked down the aisle with the bride on his arm."

GOING HIGHER

Mother: "You used to wear your dresses at the height of discretion. Now look at them!

Daughter: "But mother! The height of discretion has gone up fourteen inches."

THE BUTCHER BOY

I never sausage eyes as thine
And if you'll butcher hand in mine,
And liver 'round me every day
We'll seek some ham-let far away;
We'll meet life's frown with love's caress
And cleaver road to happiness.
—Awgwan.

THUMBS DOWN

He: "You have a wonderful form, dear."

She: "Must you go over all that again?"

TOO LATE

Frosh (rushing into library): "Quick, I want Caesar's Life."

Librarian: "Sorry, but Brutus beat you to it.

TWO-MINUTE SERMONS

By Rev. George Henry

Influence

The influence of a word once spoken or of a deed accomplished be it good or bad, is unending. Some people seem to think that evil is more persistent than good. Not so. Evil may be more blatant. Because it is offensive it is more obtrusive. Perhaps the forces of evil are more active. That puts it up to you, my christian friend. Without question the forces of evil are more united. However, if you would uproot the weeds as persistently as you uproot the potatoes the former crop would not exceed the latter. If you properly prepare your ground, sow good seed, and carefully cultivate, a good crop is assured. See to it then, that your influence is for good, and with all your might oppose that which is wrong. Don't lay down on the job. An old lady who was never known to speak evil of anyone was once asked what she thought of the devil. She replied, "Well, he is very industrious."

PETITION FOR PARDON

To The Honorable T. G. Bilbo, Governor of the State of Mississippi.

We the undersigned citizens of Grenada and Carroll Counties, respectfully petition you to pardon Shelly O'Neal, who was convicted of the crime of possessing a still at the June term 1928 of the Circuit Court of Grenada County and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of eighteen months where he has been serving since said time. We ask this pardon because we believe that he has been sufficiently punished.

Respectfully submitted

MINISTER DESCRIBES MORE OF HOLY LANDS

what appeared to be an immense silver ball, which I soon discovered was snowy-capped Mount Hermon. I shall never forget this sight, and would travel thousands of miles to see it again had I the money. If an artist could reproduce the colorings produced by God that morning, he would at once surpass all the artists the world has ever known. As I was enjoying this view, the sound that called me to this sight came again. And looking out across the flat mud roofs of the city below and then to a Minaret over a Mosque, I saw and heard the Mohammedan Priest giving out his sunrise "Call to Prayer". Wherever the Mohammedan happened to be, or whatever he happened to be doing, he ceased long enough to spread his prayer-rug and fall on it with his face turned toward Mecca, and pour out his prayers to Allah. But that morning I wondered if any one of these people who answered this call received the benediction a Protestant received as I answered the "Call to prayer". Then I began to wonder why in our religion we did not have calls to prayer, and as I thought, I realized we do but we are not as willing to answer as are they. God's word is a call to Prayer, for throughout His word from beginning to end, He calls us to prayer, "Ask and it shall be given. Seek and ye shall find", "And He spoke a parable that men ought always to pray and never to faint" and again "If ye ask anything in my name I will do it". And there are many other proofs we have that God calls us to prayer through His word. He also calls us to prayer through the example of His

CANA OF GALILEE

Son, whose life was one of continuous prayer with His Father. Look at Him praying at the grave of Lazarus, on the Mount of Temptation, for Peter that his faith might not fail him, and finally on the cross for those who put Him there, He calls us also through our anxieties, needs, temptations, and many other calls He gives us. And as He calls He promises to handle our affairs personally.

Very soon I dressed, walked down to the seashore and saw the boats of fishermen who had been out all night fishing, but most of them had "caught something". Some of them were seated on the hillside mending their nets, while others were auctioning off their catch. As I was returning to the hotel for breakfast, a man passed me with a long string of fish and entered the kitchen of the hotel, and at breakfast we again had fish taken from the sea.

Capernaum

After breakfast we boarded a launch, and went tandem fashion, up the Lake to Capernaum. Very soon we were ashore at Capernaum among the ruins of this old city. Here Christ came many times and wrought wonderful works both in teaching and in healing. Many times He taught in the Synagogue here, which now lies in ruins. It was destroyed in 666 A. D. by an earthquake, and until about forty years ago was only a mound, when excavations were begun and parts of a most interesting structure were uncovered. Here you see a mass and a pile of ruins, however the pavements and doorways are plainly visible. Around the remaining parts of wall are seats on which we know people sat and looked upon, and listened to Christ teach while in the flesh. (In last week's Sentinel you saw the picture of a part of this bench on which Dr. England and I were seated.)

The Return to Tiberias.

As we steamed away from Capernaum—and only about two hundred yards away—we saw three men in a fishing boat, one rowing and the other two drawing in the net, which was empty. We passed the traditional site of

MODERNISM NEAR ANTIQUITY
Speed sign at Mary's Fountain in Nazareth.

Chorazin and later that of Bethsaida. A little farther on the plain pushes up into a gorge through which Christ and His disciples must often have gone, for through it led the direct road of the time between Capernaum and the hill towns of Cana and Nazareth. Soon we were back in Tiberias to spend the rest of the afternoon at rest.

Cana

We left Tiberias for Cana and Nazareth about eight o'clock the next morning, and for our ascent of the long, winding road to the crest of the mountain range we reaped our reward in extensive views of the city we had left and of the Sea of Galilee, upon and near whose waters so much of the earthly ministry of our Saviour was once spent. We saw clearly the Horns of Hattin, so-called from its double crest, the traditional place of the Sermon on the Mount. An Arab sheik, in full regalia and on good mount, galloped by us. We passed fields of wheat and grass, olive groves and cactus hedges, and finally Cana came in sight, the Cana where Nathaniel lived, the Israelite in whom was no guile, the Cana where our Lord turned the water into wine. As we alighted from our automobiles and started up the walk which led to the ruins, we were besieged by children who were trying to sell us little jars made of clay, claiming them to be the jars in miniature as the ones used in the Master's time. Some of them were trying to sell us lace. We entered the Catholic Church which is built over the traditional banquet hall in which the people were feasting when Christ performed His miracle. The sacred spot is reached by descending steps below the level of the floor, and an admission is charged for seeing it. We left the church and went over a short distance to the fountain. Throughout all Palestine, the places of which we are cerain have little changed since the days of Christ are these fountains. We drank water from the fountain, and stood for a few moments watching the Palestinian women fill their waterjars and then place them upon their head perfectly balancing them as easily apparently as we place a hat upon our heads. Some of them after putting the heavy jar upon their heads stoop down and pick up a baby without ever touching the jar to keep it balanced. Cana today is nothing much but a heap and pile and ruins with very few people living there. We spent only about an hour here and again settled ourselves in the cars for the trip to Nazareth. But as we started we noticed a long camel train coming toward us, and on nearing us we saw each camel carrying four barrels marked Texaco Oil, which gave us a thought of America. We traveled four miles through a rolling country thickly strewn with flowers—finally rounding a curve we looked below in a valley, and spread along the mountain-side was beautiful and clean Nazareth, where Christ spent His childhood days. As we descended the mountain we were brought to a stop at a marble slab, pointing out the traditional place where the people tried to cast Christ down headlong.

(Next week we enter Nazareth, and travel through the heart of Palestine to Jerusalem).

The new Ford has a very simple and effective lubrication system

THE lubrication system for the engine of the new Ford is as simple in principle as water running down-hill.

A gear pump in the bottom of the oil pan raises the oil to the valve chamber reservoir. From here it flows on to the main crankshaft bearings and the front camshaft bearing. Overflow oil drops into the oil pan tray and runs into troughs through which the connecting rods pass.

As the ends of these rods strike the oil they scoop up a supply for the connecting rod bearing. At the same time they set up a fine spray that lubricates the pistons and other moving parts.

From the tray the oil runs into the bottom of the pan, and is again drawn up through a fine mesh screen and pumped to the valve chamber.

This system is so effective that the five-quart contents of the oil pan pass through the pump twice in every mile when you are traveling at only 30 miles an hour. Yet there is only one movable part — the oil pump.

As a matter of fact, the lubrication system for the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires practically no service attention.

There is just one thing for you to do, but it is a very important thing . . . watch the oil! Change the oil every 500 miles and be sure the indicator rod never registers below low (L).

If the oil level is allowed to fall below low, the supply becomes insufficient to oil all parts as they should be oiled.

To insure best performance it is also advisable to have the chassis of your car lubricated every 500 miles. This has been made easy in the new Ford through the use of the high pressure grease gun system.

Proper oiling and greasing mean so much to the life of your car that they should not be neglected or carelessly done.

See your Ford dealer regularly. He is especially well-fitted to lubricate the new Ford and he will do a good, thorough job at a fair price.

NOTICE

To Diamond and Pearl Owners

The last session of the legislature passed a law requiring all owners of diamonds and pearls to register same with the Sheriff before the 1st of January, 1929. The law reads as follows:

That it shall be the duty of each person who owns, or who has in his or her possession, a diamond or pearl, whether such diamond or pearl is set in metal or not, to make report thereof to the Sheriff of his county; Said report shall be made in writing under oath and shall contain the following information:

A description of the diamond or pearl; when purchased; from whom purchased; and the amount paid therefor; and the value thereof. Said report shall be made and filed on or before the 1st day of January, each year.

PENALTIES

Any person, firm, corporation, Sheriff, or Tax Assessor, who violates the provisions of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than Twenty five Dollars, nor more than Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars.

Every person who owns diamonds or pearls, is urged to comply with the above at once.

A HE-MAN'S PRAYER

Grant me a man's amount of common sense and the ability to use it. Teach me the value of the Golden Rule. Keep my eyes open for a chance to give the other fellow a lift and my ears dead to the tempting ring of evil gains. Make me to realize mine own faults; blind me to the sins and human errors of my fellow men. Dim the bright lights, keep my menu card of life free from bubbling wine and women vamps. Guide me to three square meals a day honestly earned, and help me to live so that I may lie down at night with the door unlocked and a conscience that will let me sleep.

Bless me with a sense of humor to see the other fellow's joke and make me a good listener. Give me an understanding heart, free from prejudice, sensitive and sympathetic to the troubles of others. Help me to keep my feet anchored on the narrow path, with my eyes ahead, away from the other fellow's job—and his wife. Give me a healthy body and the grey matter to appreciate it. Help me to live so that in the end when the music plays soft, the flowers many, and the horses tread lightly out in front, I may look back over the past with no regrets of having gaffed the innocent, and lastly, give the marble carver a short job. Let the inscription read, "A Man."

superintendent. The increase is due to better teachers, equipment, transportation and a desire on the part of parents to keep children in school for the full session and for the completion of the regular high school course of study. The enrollment of the schools is as follows: City of Grenada, 552; Tie Plant, 105; Elliott, 75; Fair Grounds, 98; Rural Districts in Grenada, 41; Dubard, 8; Holcomb, 246; Gore Springs, 133; Mitchell, 28; Shaw, 12; Nebo, 20; Pleasant Grove, 14; Calvary Line, 17; Sparta Line, 4; Wolfe-Hardy, 70; Heath, 10; Graysport, 16; Taylor's Chapel, 10; Misterton Line, 5; Brooks, 18; Kincannon, 16; Pea Ridge, 12; Spears, 15; Chapel Hill, 10.

The trustees of the Gore Springs school have just completed the painting of the school building and the teachers' home. The building looks as if it were a new one. Mr. Chamberlain says that the patrons and trustees are to level up and beautify the school grounds in keeping with the improvement done on the building. Go to it, Mr. George.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Grenada City Schools is to be congratulated and commended for the splendid improvement made in the school grounds and the planting of shrubbery. It is indeed a splendid step in making the City Beautiful, beautiful. The president of the association and the chairman of the commtitee for improvement of the school grounds are to be congratulated for the fine work done in this capacity.

One of the requirements of the elementary school commission score card is that there must be shrubbery and flowers on the school grounds. To beautify the grounds of the schools of the county is considered an important factor in the development of the community center, which is the school. The Grenada city schools have made an excellent beginning on this fine piece of work.. The patrons and trustees of the Holcomb school made a beginning last session. The trustees of the Gore Springs school will begin this session to make the necessary improvement on their school grounds.

The Grenada County teachers will meet on Saturday, December 8th, at 10 o'clock at the Grenada High School auditorium. All teachers are requested to be present at this meeting.

CREATING A MARKET

GOOD markets closer at hand mean high prices for farm property and products of the farm. This market is in reality a service station supplying the need of all the people of this community, making available to all needed merchandise, and the services of lawyer, doctor, minister and many others.

This market is the logical assembling place of the farmers' products for world consumption. Being close at hand, it saves the long haul, enables the farmer to quickly market his products at favorable prices.

The people of this community should take an active part in its affairs, support the local schools, the churches, the community associations and the local business men who are here to serve you. They have invested their capital in this community and in large measure pay the taxes which support our schools, and all the worthwhile enterprises of this community.
